LANE FOR FEDERAL RAILROAD IN ALASKA

Secretary of Interior Says Nation Should Think of Alaska as Land Supporting Millions of People.

Washington, D. C., May 15.—Secretary Lane, of the interior department, has put himself on record as favoring a railway system in Alaska, constructed, owned and operated by the government.

“Governmental ownership of railways in Alaska,” he said, “seems to be the one policy that most certainly will make for the lasting welfare.”

The secretary expressed his views in a letter responding to inquiries from senators of the committee on territories, which now has under consideration bills providing for the construction by the government of a railway system in Alaska.

Land for Millions.

“There is but one way to make the country a real part of the world,” secretary Lane wrote, “by constructing a railway system which will connect the railroads of a country determines very largely the future of that country.”

“I favor the opinion that the railroad of Alaska is a land not only of mines and fisheries, but of towns, farms, mills and factories, supporting millions of people of the hardest and most wholesome of the race. If this conception of a possible Alaska be true, our legislation should be such as to most fully bring about this possibility and, it seems to me there is no hand so sure as Alaska's future if the government own the railroads.”

New Conditions Need New Policies.

“This is a new policy for the United States. Very true. This is a new part of the United States. And policies properly change with new conditions. It is one determining question in matters of government should be, what is the wise thing to do? To build the railroads ourselves and control them may be an experiment, but such a plan does not suggest a more shameful or political conditions more unhealthy than we have known. And in the end we will get the same result. We will have our own chosen relationship between Alaska and the rest of the United States, and the rest of the world, and the restraining hand of any merely selfish person.”

I believe it to be that under which Alaska will develop most safely and rapidly. It is a policy which, if carried out, will most certainly become available to the whole people.”

The clergyman went to the Unitarian church in Boston, where he was too broad for his congregation. His efforts to establish a “Socialist People's Church” in Portland, Me., proving unsuccessful, he returned here.

MAN AND SIGN FALL.

To fall from the roof of an one-story building to the sidewalk, and coming very nearly being crushed under a heavy sign, was the experience of Rafael Garcia, a Mexican laborer who was engaged in hanging up a sign over a booze hazy on El Paso street. The sign had been drawn up until it was resting on a slender steel pipe which had under its weight. The sign and the Mexican fell into the street. The Mexican was uninjured, while the sign got a big dent in one corner.

ANTHRACITE MINE WORKERS WILL RECEIVE $500,000 BACK PAY

Hazleton, Pa., May 15.—About $500,000 in back pay will be given anthracite mine workers as a result of decisions rendered by Charles P. Neill, commissioner of labor statistics, as umpire on deadlocked questions submitted to him by the anthracite conciliation board. The miners won a victory in three of four cases submitted to the umpire.

The principal decision, in which the miners were awarded the back pay, sustained the contention of the mine workers that they were entitled to the 5 percent bonus under the sliding scale for March, 1912, the last month the old sliding scale was in operation. In the new agreement entered into by the coal company and the miners, the old scale was abolished last year.
